Mobility scooter in shop rage hit and run

BY ALICIA BABAEE

alicia.babae@mk-news.co.uk

A BLIND woman was the victim of a bizarre hit and run when she was knocked over by a woman on a mobility scooter.

Lynne Evans, 60, was walking through the Food Centre on Friday when she was hit by the woman who snatched her white cane from her hand.

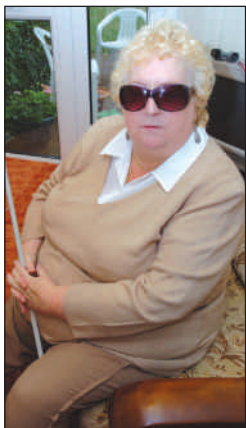

Another woman on a mobility scooter gave chase, catching up with the attacker and managing to grab the cane back.

Miss Evans, 60, has problems with her hips and has only just started walking again after a period being wheelchair-bound. She was left with a swollen leg, and severe bruising.

She said: "I am very hurt and very angry and very fed up. To think that someone can have one of those scooters and run riot on it."

Miss Evans, who lives in sheltered housing at Sovereign Court, Pennylands, was on her way to meet a friend, and had popped into the Food Centre to use the toilet.

She added: "I phoned my doctor when I got home. He told me that I'd feel worse by Sunday, and I did."

"Another lady on a mobility scooter came up to me and said that she'd chased the woman who did it who was also on a scooter, and grabbed the cane back from her. But she couldn't stop her. I am angry that there is no speed limit in there."

"I think the police are treating it as a hit and run. It's time they did something about this, it really is terrible."

A spokesman for Thames Valley Police said: "We have received a report from the lady and we will be following it up."

The closed London Pride pub at Serpentine Court on the Lakes Estate: A community charity wants to provide a wet house for alcoholics in the flat above the former boozer

Uproar at drunks' 'safe house' plan

BY ALICIA BABAE

alicia.babae@mk-news.co.uk

VULNERABLE alcoholics on the Lakes Estate are to be provided with a house where they can go and drink.

The plans have sparked an outcry from residents.

Crosslinks, a community charity, is moving into the closed London Pride pub at Serpentine Court and its plans include a wet house in the first floor flat.

Wet houses are safe places where alcoholics can go to drink.

But Jeanette Marling, chairman of the Lakes Estate Residents' Association, is furious that the community has not been notified.

Serpentine Court was a magnet for alcoholics for many years, causing problems for families in the area before police put an end to the situation.

Mrs Marling says residents had heard rumours about Crosslinks creating a shelter for 'vulnerable people' but that the wet house was never mentioned.

She said: "We knew nothing about this. Obviously we are concerned."

"We have a history of alcoholics hanging around the shops and it was a major problem because we've got first and middle schools either end, a secondary school on one side and a mums' and toddlers' group.

"Mothers walking their children to school were scared, and the alcoholics were urinating through the railings onto the school grounds.

"We want information and we want to be consulted."

By moving into the pub Crosslinks hopes to offer all of its services under one roof.

It wants to offer a community centre with a cafe, offices for community groups, facilities for young person's activities and temporary accommodation for vulnerable people as well as the safe wet house in the first floor flat.

Bletchley and Fenny Stratford Town Council was set to review its support of the application last night after it discovered what the term 'wet house' meant.

The agenda reads: 'A wet house is a drop in centre which provides support, help and treatment for severely disadvantaged and chaotic people including street drinkers.'

"The town council has received information that the local residents are strongly against this application."

Crosslinks Centre manager Keith Silverthorne has written a paper providing more details.

He said: "We discussed our plans with MK Housing and they asked if we'd ever thought about having a safe wet house."

"We said no way would we take into our property, to be with our staff, anybody who was going to be difficult."

"We would agree a protocol whereby we'd have very tight criteria for letting people in."

"If anybody with a history of violence or antisocial behaviour came, we couldn't take them in because we couldn't manage."

The centre runs a community cafe, an over-55s lunch club, the monthly Milton Keynes Physically Disabled Club and a weekly club for young people with learning difficulties.

It also delivers free emergency food parcels to families in need on the estate in conjunction with the council's housing office and community support nurses.

Net closes on fly-tippers

ENVIRONMENT officers and police are closing in on the fly-tippers snapped dumping piles of rubbish in Fishermead.

Officers at the council received a number of calls from MK NEWS readers who recognised the offenders in last week's paper.

The couple were spotted by a neighbour last Monday as they emptied the contents of a garage onto a public verge in Mullion Place, including a large desk, wardrobe, chairs, paint pots and a petrol can.

The neighbour took photographs and called environmental services at Milton Keynes Council to report the matter.

Safer Communities officer Pete Roberts said: "Since the article we've had a number of people contact us and one person gave us a lead to identify the man in the photo.

"Two or three other families also came through to us with more photographs of this incident."

"We have officers and police working on the case."

"At the moment it's an on-going investigation but we believe it could be linked to other incidents of fly-tipping in the area."

"We rely on members of the general public reporting these incidents to us and in this case the photos were very helpful."

The waste has been removed by the officers.

■ Anyone who wants to report fly-tipping can contact environmental services on 01908 252570.

Shocked chip fryer 'lucky to be alive'

BY ALICIA BABAE

alicia.babae@mk-news.co.uk

THE fish and chip shop owner, electrocuted while he worked in his own shop, says he is lucky to be alive.

The electrical surge entered Stephen Wilding's body through his thumb and came out through his nipple, missing his heart by an inch.

Father of four Mr Wilding was cleaning his award-winning fish and chip shop on Tanfield Lane, Broughton, just before 2pm on October 6 when he was electrocuted.

He has been discharged from hospital following a week-long stay, but now faces a series of skin grafts at Stoke Mandeville burns unit.

They will take skin from his upper arm and use it to reconstruct the tip of his thumb.

Speaking exclusively to MK NEWS this week he said: "The doctors say I am lucky to be alive."

"My survival was put down to my personal fitness, I put that down to a healthy diet of fish and chips and running."

"It was a double whammy, getting electrocuted was bad enough but then it came out right next to my heart. You just never know when your number's up."

"My wife and boy saved my life."

The shop's trip switch did not work. His wife tried to pull him away from the electric current that had a hold of him, but received a shock herself.

Then his quick-thinking 18-year-old son grabbed something non-conductive and pulled his dad away. Mr Wilding was left unconscious.

Customers from nearby Universal Hair Studios ran over and helped to administer first aid.

Paramedics, firefighters and police all rushed to Broughton Fish and Chips on Tanfield Lane.

Electrocuted at work: Broughton chip shop owner Stephen Wilding

He regained consciousness at the scene and was taken by ambulance to Milton Keynes Hospital.

Council officers prohibited the use of some of the equipment and the shop remains closed until further checks have been made.

The incident has been reported to the Health and Safety Executive.

Liverpudlian Mr Wilding, who is in his 40s, and his wife Deborah opened the shop in April this year. Just four months later they became one of just 620 fish and chip shops, out of 12,000 in the country, to win the Seafish Friers Quality Award for exceptional standards in food quality and hygiene.

This week Fish & Chip Shop of the Year competition 2007 crowned Broughton Fish and Chips the best chippy in the area.

Now it is in the running to be become regional champions.

The shop should re-open early next week.

MP Starkey's 'sneering' apology

CITY MP Phyllis Starkey has been criticised for allegedly sneering at another MP during a televised meeting.

The MP for Milton Keynes South West stands accused of making loud comments about questions raised by MP Anne Main as she questioned the Housing Minister on October 9.

Another MP was so shocked by her behaviour at the Local Government and Communities Select Committee meeting that he wrote her a letter demanding an apology to the MP concerned.

In the letter, which MP Greg Hands copied to the chief whips and to Anne Main, he wrote: "I found your behaviour to be completely unacceptable for a chairman of a key cross-party committee."

"During Anne Main's questioning of the Minister, you were sneering, making loud comments about the questions raised, you openly sought to answer some of the questions (even though they were directed at the Minister), you passed comment on the questions both to me and to other members of the committee, and you even ostentatiously held your head in your hands, seemingly in despair."

Dr Starkey is the chairman of the committee, which examines the expenditure, policy and administration of the Office of the Deputy Prime Minister.

Mr Hands, member for Hammersmith and Fulham, says that Dr Starkey apologised to him after the meeting.

Now he is urging her to say sorry to Anne Main, Conservative MP for St Albans.

Yesterday Dr Starkey dismissed Mr Hands' account of the incident.

She said: "I don't have anything to say. It was a private letter. I have replied to him. It's a highly coloured account of something which he has a right to interpret his way but not an account that I would give."

"It's not something which should be discussed through the medium of the press."

Anne Main has now written her own letter of complaint to the whips and Dr Starkey.

Dons' game delayed by death of fan

A MAN died at the stadium:mk just before the MK Dons played on Sunday.

The kick-off against Lincoln City was postponed by ten minutes due to the incident.

It is believed that the man, a Dons fan, suffered a heart attack just after entering turnstile 5.

Medical staff from the club tended to him but were unable to revive him.

A spokesman for MK Dons said: "The club can confirm that on-site medical staff gave emergency treatment to a man who collapsed at the stadium on Sunday."

Reality check for HRH

SIR – I believe the findings of the social atlas for this year will be a disappointment to many residents, and a shock to others as to where their estate is positioned on the list. This list is an indication of failure. Not enough resources are being targeted to deal with the problems – what happens is you get token gestures.

When the Queen comes to visit Milton Keynes perhaps she should be taken on a tour of these areas to see how some of her subjects live in the 21st century – which can be described as real life communities – and meet the people that live there instead of listening to agencies who will paint a different picture.

I am not sure that people will be looking forward to next year's findings.

Eamonn Bobey
Chairman, Netherfield Residents' Association

New Bradwell benefits

SIR – I am both disappointed and very surprised indeed that New Bradwell has been voted fifth worst estate.

Although I do not live there, I have for the past 10 years spent a great deal of time there, helping with my grandchildren during school holidays and generally baby-sitting when needed.

I was born in New Bradwell and know many of the most interesting places to take the grandchildren on walks and bike rides.

We meet some of the nicest people on these trips, many elderly, who are always ready to chat (might these be some of the people on benefits?).

At night, when I sleep over, all I can hear is the distant rumbling of trains – no traffic because there are no 'race-track' roads, and it is mostly so quiet at night that I can hear the footfalls of dog-walkers and even the dogs panting as they go by.

There are no noisy after-hour pub revellers and I have never experienced any anti-social behaviour.

I would add that neither my daughter or son have experienced any of the above, and they have lived there for some years.

Each has elderly neighbours who are kind and thoughtful – really good neighbours.

I can tell you, from living in the old part of Stony Stratford since the 1960s – where I have been robbed, mugged and have suffered anti-social behaviour on Friday and Saturday nights after the pubs close – that I feel a great deal safer in New Bradwell.

I think that many of the reasons listed for the problems is because New Bradwell contains affordable housing which attracts young people with children, single people and many elderly people who have been there for a very long time. It is therefore more likely that problems which meet the council criteria will occur in such a town (by the way it is not an estate).

Name and address supplied

The Queen should be invited to visit Beanhill

SIR – I note with regret that you highlight the rubbish dumped on Beanhill in your article about the social atlas.

There is a problem with dumping on all the estates in Milton Keynes and in Beanhill this is to be addressed in the new neighbourhood agreement supplements due in November.

This new agreement will be used to bring home to residents that they must take responsibility for their actions,

But the social atlas reflects the fact that more people are receiving benefits on Beanhill than other estates in Milton-Keynes

Beanhill is an estate of bungalows and consequently has a high population of pensioners and disabled people, all pensions and disability payments. Beanhill does seem to be the Cinderella estate of the city when it comes to basic council infrastructure.

There are few benches for pensioners to sit on – many have been removed and not replaced. We have parkland at the top of the estate with not one bench. The through roads are in a state of disrepair,

Would it not be a good idea to petition the Queen to visit Beanhill, before she goes on to Greenleys with its flowers on the lampposts and its brand new paint, to see how the elderly and others live there?

Perhaps she can then make the comparison between the two estates – or would that cause panic in the council's paint-brush departments?

Pete Orme
Spokesman for Beanhill Action Group

Beanhill in bloom

SIR – I write to express my horror at the estate in which I reside being classed as the 'worst in Milton Keynes'.

I have only lived in Beanhill for three years and I bought my council property two years ago.

I have decided to move house in the next year or so (we require a larger property) and have been viewing other estates/areas in Milton Keynes and watching the property prices.

While doing this I have compiled a list of estates that I will not even consider in Milton Keynes.

Top of my list is Netherfield, closely followed by Tinkers Bridge, Granby, Fishermead, Galley Hill, Fullers Slade and The Lakes estate.

In fact I would think about moving to another property in Beanhill before even considering Eaglestone, Stantonbury, Coffee Hall and Oldbrook.

The only thing that would stop me from considering Beanhill is the fact that the top end is next to Netherfield which is without a doubt one of the dirtiest and worst estates I have EVER visited.

How Beanhill can be 'awarded' the above title is totally beyond me. Anyone would just have to drive around and maybe spend some time on each of the other estates to see that there is something seriously wrong with the league table.

I can only assume the tables are devised using individual household circumstances, so Beanhill could be the 'poorest' estate – but it is absolutely NOT the worst.

The pictures you used to depict Beanhill (views of dumped rubbish) are very unfair. It's easy to fly-tip in Beanhill because there are a lot of alleyways and car parks that are not in direct view of houses. Plus the majority of people are elderly and unlikely to intervene should they see anyone committing such a crime.

Beanhill has been given hundreds of bulbs to be planted in the public areas around the estate.

Let's hope that when these bloom you will take photos of the estate and print them for the whole of Milton Keynes to see.

We are also looking forward to the opening of the new health centre and our local meeting place is to become a new family centre.

There is also talk of the estate gaining permission for an allotment area, giving residents a chance to grow their own produce.

I think there is much to look forward to for the residents of Beanhill and considering it is one of the smallest estates in Milton Keynes.

Tracy Jones

Stantonbury rubbish

SIR – I have lived on Stantonbury for 33 years and have to agree this estate has got bad, with car crime at an all time high, vandalism and rubbish.

It's no wonder we are full of rats when a bag of dirty baby nappies is slung out on to the grass by some lazy resident and rubbish is put out two hours after the dustmen have been so it sits there all week.

Grace Quinn

Honest shopper

SIR – May I express my belated thanks to the honest person who, on Saturday, September 22, found my mobile phone in the ladies' loo in BhS and handed it in?

I am extremely grateful.

Family and work issues have prevented me from expressing my thanks earlier.

THOUSANDS gathered in the city centre this weekend to witness the Light Fantastic show.

Laser beams, light projections, fireworks and special effects combined to offer visitors a spectacular display at Saxon Gate.

As well as a light parade the show was brought to life with acrobats who impressed audiences with their agility and skills in a spectacular aerial art display.

Big Ben stands tall as students' top student

BY ALICIA BABAEE

alicia.babae@mk-news.co.uk

A GENTLE giant was crowned Students' Student of the Year at Milton Keynes College's tenth Hotel Catering and Hospitality Awards.

Ben Garfield, 20, from Giffard Park stands tall at a whopping seven feet.

He said: "I'm chuffed to bits. I feel so proud."

"I've been interested in cooking since I was two."

His mum Lindy, who is just 5ft 1in tall, added: "Everyone knows Ben will do anything for anyone. He truly is a gentle giant."

"Ben was 2ft at birth and then head and shoulders above all the other children at school."

"But it has never been a problem for him, he's always been cheerful and popular."

The NVQ2 catering student has been studying at the college for four years.

His height has meant there have been some adjustments to work surfaces and benches at the hotel and catering department at the college.

Ben was diagnosed with an extremely rare condition called acromegaly when he was 16-years-old – and doctors say he is still growing.

There is only one other person in the world with the condition and he lives in Russia.

The syndrome makes the body produce sugar at an alarming rate, generating growth – the opposite to diabetes.

Comments like 'Big Ben because we love him and he always helps us out in his spare time' ensured Ben won the award.

The event celebrates all the excellent work undertaken by hard-working students studying for a career in the industry.

Ben's tutor Tony Oxley said: "Ben has been an outstanding student throughout his years at Milton Keynes College."

"The teachers adore him and the students love him. He is a real star and we have no doubt he'll be extremely successful in his career in the industry."

Ben said: "I love being really tall. It comes in very handy at a concert and I'm often asked for help to reach things on high shelves. I always get a great view."

His ambition is to open his own restaurant called Big Ben's.

The winners of the NVQ Levels one, two and three award were Stephanie Hames, Kayleigh Jones, and Sean Adams.

PHYLLIS STARKEY

Our occasional series of columns continues this week with the thoughts of MK South West MP Phyllis Starkey

ANTISOCIAL behaviour is one of the most pressing issues my constituents raise with me both on the doorstep and through correspondence.

People are not willing to tolerate noisy neighbours, graffiti, vandalism, intimidation and harassment in their area, and quite right too.

The Respect agenda launched by the Government at the beginning of 2006 and media coverage of antisocial behaviour issues have been very influential in focusing attention on examples of the unacceptable behaviour by a small minority that can blight the lives of others and in extreme cases terrorise a whole neighbourhood. The key to tackling anti-social behaviour effectively, is for the Government, the council, the police and the local community to each make a contribution since none can sort the problem out on their own.

The Government has introduced a number of new measures to help in this area, including Antisocial Behaviour Orders to tackle nuisance neighbours and vandalism, Parenting Orders and Parenting Contracts to address truancy and disruptive behaviour in schools, and Dispersal Orders and Alcohol Control Orders to stop the excessive street drinking that can fuel nuisance behaviour.

Of course these powers need to be used sensitively and appropriately; often nuisance behaviour can best be dealt with by mediation or a simple warning from the Police. However, following contacts from constituents who have been troubled by serious antisocial behaviour over quite long periods I am concerned that the powers now available are not being used sufficiently in Milton Keynes to make an impact.

Powers should be used to tackle serious cases of antisocial behaviour

Only 22 ASBOs and six parenting orders have been issued in the last six years that figures are available, and I am working closely with the police and the Community Safety Partnership to ensure that in future they do make full use of the powers at their disposal. I am encouraged by the news that local police have recently made their first application under powers that allow the closing of an alleged crack den. This is exactly the kind of action that will make a real difference to the lives of local residents.

We need to let people know these powers exist and that they can get action against antisocial behaviour when it arises. It is not true that "nothing can be done" but there does need to be the will locally to take effective action.

The Government has also insisted on the introduction of neighbourhood policing. Having a team of police officers and police community safety officers (PCSOs) with responsibility for a particular neighbourhood is a crucial part of the strategy to control anti-social behaviour. In Milton Keynes, neighbourhood police teams are being extended across the whole city. Parish councils like Woughton and Shenley Church End are also funding extra PCSOs or Parish Wardens and the local knowledge that they bring plus their visible presence on the beat makes a real difference to public safety.

But the government, the police and local councils can only do so much to solve this problem. In the end anti-social behaviour will only be controlled if we all contribute to an expectation of mutual respect and a consideration of how our behaviour can adversely affect others.

A recent example is the nuisance caused by mini-motos. These are illegal to ride on roads and redways. The police can prosecute, and can seize and destroy mini-motos but parents should also be exercising some control over where and when their children are riding them.

I would advise anyone experiencing antisocial behaviour to talk to your neighbours and your local councillor about it. If it is an ongoing problem, keep a logbook of the times and dates when incidents occur so that if the police or the council need to get involved to help resolve the matter they will have a record of incidents to demonstrate the scale of the problem. Together we can deal with it.

MILTON KEYNES ROYAL VISIT

MP backs royal visit 'Make us a city, Ma'am' bid

MILTON Keynes north-east MP Mark Lancaster has backed the MK NEWS campaign to make us a city.

The MP tabled an early day motion in Parliament on Monday supporting the bid to become a city.

Last week MK NEWS revealed that the Queen, along with her husband the Duke of Edinburgh, will be making a prestigious visit on Thursday, November 29.

While the final details of her visit have yet to be finalised it is expected she will officially open both the hub:mk and the MK Dons' new stadium as well as visit the Nigel Mobbs St John Ambulance training centre in Greenleys.

MK NEWS took the step of personally writing a letter to the Queen calling on her to grant Milton Keynes city status to coincide with the visit.

The letter was hand-delivered to Buckingham Palace by reporter Rob Gibson last Monday.

Mr Lancaster's motion already has a number of signatures from MPs at Westminster.

It reads: 'That this House congratulates Milton Keynes on its 40th anniversary; recognises the new town's revolutionary design; celebrates its vibrant community spirit, congratulates the residents

Rob Gibson with the letter to the Queen on behalf of city residents of Milton Keynes' can-do attitude and, given its growing regional importance, calls on the Lord Chancellor to recommend that Milton Keynes be awarded city status'.

Mr Lancaster said yesterday:

"From my very first speech in Parliament I've always referred to Milton Keynes as a city and I believe that it is high time that we are recognised as such officially."

"We certainly appear to fit the criteria, not least with our forward looking attitude and regional significance, so let's hope this motion to Parliament helps make the difference."

Chief executive of Milton Keynes Council, John Best, hopes the Queen will be impressed by the scale and diversity of Milton Keynes when she visits.

He said: "Obviously the details of Her Majesty's visit are still being finalised, but this would be a great honour for Milton Keynes."

"The Queen has visited twice before, the first time in 1979 to open the Civic Offices and again in 1992 to open the city church."

"Each time she will have seen major changes as the city has grown and changed. This time, we would hope that Her Majesty would be impressed by the sheer scale and diversity of what has been achieved here during her reign."

"Milton Keynes has a real maturity, a full range of facilities, an economy to be proud of and a 'wow' factor found in few other cities."

Your views on the granting of city status

LAST week we called on readers to let us know what they thought about whether Milton Keynes should become a city or not. Here are a few of your responses:

I DO think that it's silly that towns have to make a 'bid' using taxpayers' money to become a city, then only a few are chosen. Surely this archaic practice should be abandoned. City status should be automatically granted when a town's population grows above a set amount of people.

I do hope your letter to the Queen works.

Name and address supplied

ME and my family have lived here seven happy years.

This is the most vibrant and modern place we have ever lived with its positive and forward-thinking, ambitious people.

We will have the best 40th birthday present by finally being awarded city status.

I AGREE that Milton Keynes should become a city and the Queen should accept the request on her next visit to Milton Keynes

Telma Guerreiro

I also wrote to Her Majesty on August 4, 2006 asking that she confer city status on Milton Keynes in 2007 as a celebration of its 40th anniversary.

I received a reply from the Buckingham Palace senior correspondence officer saying: 'as a constitutional Sovereign, The Queen acts on the advice of her Ministers, and I have, therefore, been instructed to send your letter to the Right Honorable John Reid MP, the Home Secretary, so that he may know of your approach to Her Majesty on this matter and may consider the points you raise'.

Don't know what happened about John Reid because on September 21 I received a letter from the Customer Liaison Unit as the Department for Communities and Local Government saying that their department 'does not have responsibility for the issues you have raised. Your letter has therefore been sent to the Department for Constitutional Affairs'.

On October 4, I received a letter from them saying that 'the grant of city status is a mark of distinction granted by the Sovereign, under the Royal Prerogative, acting on the advice of Ministers. Competitions are usually held to mark important Royal anniversaries which are national in nature.'

'I understand that Her Majesty The Queen has not expressed any wish to make further grants of city status and it is unlikely that such grants will be made again for some years. When the next competition is held it is, of course, open for Milton Keynes to participate'.

I filed the letter away to be laughed at by my family.

Annette Trayner

I HAVE just received my copy of MK NEWS and I am astounded at the headlines 'Make us a city, Ma'am'.

This is an absolute cheek and an affront to the Queen and tantamount to blackmail.

When are the people of Milton Keynes and your paper going to realise Milton Keynes is not ready or even worthy of being created a city, yet.

Another 50 or, perhaps, 100 years time. It does not warrant being made a city after such a short time as 40 years; it is still a baby TOWN. I have lived in Milton Keynes since its creation and I am sure there are many others who feel this way. Get real!

Ken Buttenshaw
Tylers Green, Bradwell Common

I DISAGREE with Milton Keynes being given the title of 'city' because it is not big enough and it was not designed to be a city but a town to take the overflow from London. The public transport is terrible and we have more trees than residents. I have lived in Milton Keynes for 29 years.

Panto season is almost upon us, oh yes it is Within two months, panto season will be back in full swing. Reporter ALICIA BABAEE went to the launch of Aladdin where she met the stars of the show.

THIS year's pantomime could be interesting.

With an Aladdin who has a habit of falling over on stage, a Chinese policeman who once treated his audience by forgetting to do his flies up and a Wishee Washee who's performed wearing trousers ripped right up to the crotch, the stars of the show have their fair share of embarrassing tales to tell.

But whatever happens, the show must go on.

Former Coronation Street star Bradley Walsh is making a return to the city stage this Christmas, where he will play the part of Wishee Washee.

After performing in Cinderella last year, Bradley – who is now learning his lines for his 14th pantomime – says he is thrilled to be back.

He said: "They asked me to come back and I just said yes straight away. It was choice between this and a London theatre. It's the place, the theatre, the show, the subject matter."

But Bradley's return is leaving the other stars a little nervous. Well-known for his comical improvisation on stage, the rest of the cast never quite know what to expect.

Eloise Irving, who was on BBC show How To Solve A Problem Like Maria and is playing the part of the beautiful princess, said: "I think Bradley does quite a lot of ad-libbing so you've got to be quite flexible. You really have to be awake."

Chris Nelson, playing the Chinese policeman, said: "I'm not worried about forgetting lines because panto's an art in which you can get away with it, but I'm scared of getting caught out by Bradley."

"He's really good at thinking of things off the top of his head. And you have to react, it's quite intimidating. But it's great, it's such a laugh. And it's different every night."

Co-star Michael Quinn, runner up on ITV's Grease Is The Word and the man playing Aladdin, said: "We'll have to do quite a lot of thinking on our feet."

"But we're really lucky because First Family's one of the biggest panto company's in the country."

Another person who feels lucky to be starring in the show is Wolverton actor Tony Stansfield, playing the emperor.

He said: "Everybody in Wolverton wants to come and see me in it."

"My friends and family came to see me in Me and My Girl last year, and I didn't realise until three weeks later when I was working front of house that they were all standing in the aisles dancing my routine with me."

But this year, the cast might not be able to invite as many friends to watch as they'd like.

Bradley said: "We've already been told our personal allocation is cut by three quarters because the tickets aren't there. But I'm very proud of that. We were the biggest money grossing show last year."

"Everyone here loves the theatre. It is one of the hubs of the community."

Dancers from Myra Tiffin Performing Arts School have been recruited through open auditions to perform in the pantomime once, and everybody is looking forward to meeting them.

The cast, who all signed up before they had even seen the script, spectacular sets or stunning costumes, is expecting a mixed audience.

Bradley said: "You feed off the audience. Sometimes it depends on the weather. If it's very cold, it takes them ages to warm up. In the evening they've had a few drinks. It works both ways."

"It's a great feeling before you go on, getting geared up. You're like a gladiator. I love it."

Chris Nelson, who has performed in several pantos before, said: "Your audience depends on who you've got working with you."

"If you've got someone like Bradley, you'll get families but you'll also get the individuals who will come along

Ad-libbing Bradley Walsh and Eloise Irving star in Aladdin at MK Theatre to see Bradley because he's well known for his stand up."

He added: "This is the first time I've been to Milton Keynes. I'm very keen to see how this football team's getting on. I want a cast vs first team match."

The cast, who will be joined by former Corrie star Eric Potts as Widow Twankey and a 7ft tall genie, are putting on over 80 shows over six weeks. They start rehearsals on November 19.

Who will deal with your affairs and welfare if you can't? Don't lose your right to choose your Attorney by waiting until its too late.

From the 1st October 2007 the Enduring Power of Attorney (EPA) has been replaced with a revised type of power called a Lasting Power of Attorney (LPA). However, EPAs made prior to 1 October will continue to be valid.

The LPA has now replaced the EPA as one of the most important legal protection mechanisms for your future. Indeed having an LPA in place is just as important as making a Will because it affects you during your lifetime. The benefit of the LPA is that it will allow you and your family the certainty of knowing who will deal with your affairs and personal welfare if you become incapable of making decisions about these things yourself. Moreover, you will have the comfort of knowing that the Attorney dealing with your affairs is the person of your choice and not someone whom the Court chooses to appoint on your behalf.

Unlike the EPA, an LPA will need to be registered with the Court of Protection before it may be used by your attorney(s).

A person can make two types of LPA, one dealing with financial matters which enables your Attorney to act on your behalf in relation to your financial affairs (as do EPAs) and one concerning personal welfare.

A Property and Affairs Lasting Power of Attorney (LPA) allows you to plan ahead by choosing one or more people to make decisions on your behalf regarding your property and financial affairs.

You can appoint a property and affairs Attorney to manage your finances and property whilst you still have capacity as well as when you lack capacity. For example, it may be easier for you to give someone the power to carry out tasks such as paying your bills if you find it difficult to get about. Please note that the document has to be registered before it can be used.

A Personal Welfare Lasting Power of Attorney allows you to plan ahead by choosing one or more people to make decisions on your behalf regarding your personal healthcare and welfare.

As you can see the protection offered by an LPA can be invaluable. Please contact us today to see how we can help.

Family anger at death of manic depressive

BY LAURA HANNAM

laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

THE family of a manic depressive who hanged himself from a tree say more should have been done to protect him.

The family raised complaints over decisions made by the local mental health trust at an inquest on Monday.

Thirty-eight-year-old Gary Quinn was found dead in an isolated area of woodland, north of the Peace Pagoda at Willen Lake on Thursday, February 8 this year.

He was discovered hanging from a branch by two children who were playing in the deep snow.

He had been missing for six days after failing to return from leave to the mental health hospital in Houghton Regis where he was staying.

The inquest heard that Mr Quinn, who lived in Richmond Road, Leighton Buzzard, had suffered from bi-polar disorder since his teens, which causes dramatic mood swings.

His condition was made worse by regular alcohol and drug use.

His family said they asked staff responsible for his care to section him under the Mental Health Act several times during the three months leading up to his death.

They wanted him to be moved to a more secure unit where he would not have the chance to escape or refuse to take his medication.

This is because he had carried out five serious attempts to take his own life.

His partner, June McClusky, said: "Gary was a very gentle, loving and shy person when he was well.

"He was a joy to be around but he was also vulnerable and most of the time needed protecting from himself. He was broken, there was no respite from the pain his head gave him.

"They have let him down."

Dr Ahmed Hussain, consultant pathologist for the Bedfordshire and Luton Mental Health and Social Care NHS Trust, said the medical team had chosen not to section Mr Quinn as he agreed to comply and receive treatment.

He explained that it was about balancing protection of patients and ensuring they retain their human rights.

"Looking back now I would not change my mind as I would like to encourage people to have more independence," he said.

Coroner Rodney Corner supported the medical staff saying they had Mr Quinn's very best interests at heart.

"They wanted to make his life more tolerable," he said.

"Gary wasn't prepared to go on living with this crucifying mental illness he was suffering from. In my view there could only have been one conclusion."

The coroner's verdict was that he killed himself.

Cop could face charges for 'friendly fire' incident

A POLICE marksman from Milton Keynes could face prosecution after shooting a civilian member of staff during a firearms training exercise.

Findings from an investigation by the Independent Police Complaints Commission (IPCC) were submitted to the Crown Prosecution Service last week to consider whether there are any criminal matters found by the investigation.

The IPCC were called in after a control room operator was shot in the stomach during a Thames Valley Police firearms awareness training course, in Kidlington, Oxfordshire on 30 May.

The police gun instructor had been showing a revolver to 11 civilian staff before it went off. The injured man, who is in his 50s, was rushed to the JRII Hospital in a serious condition but survived the life-threatening injury.

The matter was referred by Thames Valley Police to the IPCC for the independent investigation.

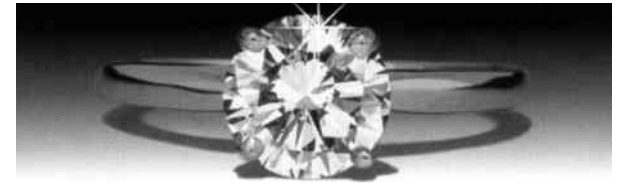

A statement from the IPCC said the gun was not standard police issue and was being used to demonstrate the variety and range of weapons that can be recovered by the public.

The investigation examined how live ammunition came to be present in a firearm during an awareness session, and considered whether any criminal or disciplinary offences were committed.

The CPS will now decide consider the findings and decide whether to prosecute.

That's rubbish – sort it!

Woodhill prisoners go green as they work in their on-site recycling centre

BY LAURA HANNAM

laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

INMATES are helping their prison become more green as part of a new recycling project at Woodhill.

Prisoners are gaining work experience by sorting rubbish from across the establishment ready for recycling.

Woodhill Prison, on Tattenhoe Street, has opened a brand new waste recycling centre on site.

Rubbish is brought into the workshop by tractor, where 15 employed inmates sort it ready for recycling.

The centre, which opened in July, can currently sort cardboard, paper, clothes, plastics and metals.

Environment group manager at Woodhill, Chris Bagley, said their aim is to sort all rubbish produced by the prison.

"The prison is like a small town, it produces a substantial amount of waste," he said.

"In the last few months since we started the scheme we have gone from 13 per cent to 40 per cent recycling rate."

The project has been set up in partnership with Cory Environmental Waste Management, who collect and process the waste after it has been sorted.

Mike Thornton, recycling co-ordinator at Woodhill, said: "The kitchen is one of our main sources of waste at the moment; for example cans that keep groceries come to us and are washed, squashed down and sent off to be melted down.

"We recycle newspapers and magazines from around the site.

"Broken furniture we repair if possible or break down and turn into chippings which go back into the grounds to keep the weeds away."

"Plastic cups and plates that are thrown out of prisoners' windows are washed and go back to the people that make them to be reformed."

The scheme also aims to provide prisoners with vocational skills that can be used to get a job on release.

In future inmates may be able to study accredited courses in waste management alongside their work through the prison's education department.

Steve, one of the inmates working at the centre, said "I started here two weeks ago, I have been trying to get a job for two months.

"It is good to be doing something."

"It sounds strange but I actually look forward to getting up in the morning and dealing with rubbish."

"It is not the most pleasant job but you get a sense of responsibility sorting things for recycling.

"It will also help me get a job when I get out."

Chris Bagley added: "We are hoping to set up arrangements with companies such as Corys that will allow prisoners to go straight into employment with them on release."

Brian Penfold, head of prisoner development, said: "I would like to let the local business community know that there are opportunities here for companies to have an input into reducing re-offending, by Woodhill tailoring future training to their workplace requirements."

Make allowance for under-funded carers

SIR – After reading MK NEWS last week I was tempted to make a comment on the destruction of our town (Jane Hamilton page 6) or future of the old hockey stadium (page 4) both articles demonstrate the inept planning of English partnership, MK Council and the present Government.

However, unpaid carers saving the Government millions (page 21) demands a comment.

When I had to give up work to assume the task of caring for my wife and spent the best part of a year battling through the bureaucracy to obtain disability living allowance for her and care allowance of £48.65 a week for myself and used up most of our life savings (nothing is back dated) we were left approximately £18,640 a year worse off.

Phyllis Starkey states that her government has allocated £90,000 to this area, with 17,293 carers in the area I would like to know where is my £5.20.

£90,000 is a joke however it is going to be used.

Come on Phyllis, join the real world, work a little harder and get your government to up the care allowance to £100 a week for all carers, this would make a real difference.

We can't claim any of the other allowances as I was diligent in my 25 years as a constable in Thames Valley Police and put away a large part of my pay to provide me with a pension.

This would have been adequate but I find that I would be better off now if I hadn't saved and could claim all the other allowances.

I do hope that this filters upwards to the ivory tower that Dr Starkey now lives in, perhaps it's the lack of oxygen at that altitude that makes her think that her government has made any effort to support us.

Fine fly-tippers

SIR – I also live nearby, where those people were fly tipping (MK NEWS last week) I reported them dumping the rubbish at 5.30pm on Tuesday to the environmental number and left a message.

Faith no yardstick for deciding housing list

SIR – I felt compelled to write to you after reading your story headlined 'Homes to be built for Hindu old folk'.

It is my sincerest hope that there are a number of facts missing from your story, because it is painting a picture that you can have first pick of this new affordable housing based on faith alone.

Believe me when I say that I have nothing but the greatest respect for people of all faiths, but in no instance should people of faith or a particular faith be given greater opportunities to buy affordable housing ahead of other individuals of no faith or differing faiths.

If your story is accurate, I find it utterly disgraceful.

Mr A Williams
Milton Keynes

They said they would call back within 24 hours, but I still haven't heard back from them.

I even filled in a on-line report as well.

Fly tipping happens far too often in our estate, when I call up and tell the council who is doing it they just thank me for the call and come out to take the rubbish away.

They do not fine the people who dump rubbish.

Fly tipping carries a maximum fine of £5,000 but the council never seem to penalise anyone committing this illegal offence.

Fair shared ownership

SIR – Further to V Walley's letter last week.

I keep hearing that we must build, build, build as a solution to our housing crisis and to aid those wanting to get on the bottom rung of the property ladder.

How about restricting greedy property investors who compete with first-time buyers to obtain buy-to-let properties?

A friend whose single-parent daughter is trying desperately to buy into a shared ownership property as a first step told me that when a new shared ownership development was put on the market in MK recently, no fewer than 19 of them were immediately snapped up by one landlord for his own portfolio to rent out.

I am old enough to remember the unscrupulous landlords of the Rackman era, before the Housing Act. We could be heading down that way again.

As for building more, I certainly think that the high-density developments, tower block constructions built closer to main roads springing up all over MK, we are in danger of repeating some of the disastrous planning mistakes of the 50s and 60s.

Tax balancing act

SIR – Mr Kotulecki's thoughtful letter last week doesn't take into account two important facts. First, 75 per cent of the council's income comes from Government grant.

Second, much of the taxation we raise locally is taken by Government – half of our business rate (£61 million per year) and a further £10 million annually which is transferred to other councils.

The Lib Dem Council is committed not to increase council tax by more than the rate of inflation – the figure the Government uses each autumn when fixing senior citizens' pension uprating.

Our council tax is £60 lower than the national average for a Band D taxpayer.

We believe that we have the balance right between efficient public services and an acceptable level of taxation to pay for them.

City's hot property

PASSIONATE city residents have been giving Milton Keynes a boost on a Channel 4 website aiming to find the best and worst places to live.

The search is being led by property programme Location, Location, Location.

The worst places have been revealed already, but the best are to be unveiled on a live show at 9pm tonight and city residents have commented in their droves.

Milton Keynes is not in the top 20, despite having prompted the biggest response from website users. Their comments covered 29 pages as we went to press.

Bath and North East Somerset currently sits in the top spot as the best area to live. But its residents have only contributed three pages of comments.

Some of the city's top bods including councillors and the chief executive of Milton Keynes Partnership (MKP) have put their penny's worth in.

Half term sports sessions set to keep kids on the ball

GOLF, rounders and badminton are just some of the sports children can try during multi-activity sessions to be held this half term.

The fun-filled courses are being run by Milton Keynes Council's sports development section to encourage youngsters to stay active during the school half term break.

The courses are to be held with qualified coaches at the Oakgrove Leisure Centre in Middleton for children aged from 8 to 12 years.

Each session will involve drills and skills practice and include table tennis, basketball, netball, rounders, tennis, badminton, tri golf, athletics, football as well as quick cricket.

Lisa Carvell said: "We started the session this summer and they are proving popular. We also intend to run sessions over the Xmas holidays as well as over the half terms."

Sessions for this half term run from Monday-Friday, October 22-26 from 10am to 12pm and from 1-3pm at the leisure centre. Cost is £6 per session.

Outside holiday times the council is running a multi-sports club for 8-12 year olds held every Tuesday from 5.30pm until 6.30pm at the Oakgrove Leisure Centre. Cost £3 per hour session.

Cllr Euan Henderson, cabinet member responsible for leisure, said: "The council is working hard by providing a range of activities to help improve the health and fitness of young people as more and more children are becoming obese through a lack of exercise."

Spirit of Spain: Ortega, which opens in November, will offer flamenco and salsa, plus tapas, paella and sangria

The eats on in MK

BY ALICIA BABAE

alicia.babae@mk-news.co.uk

FOUR new restaurants are coming to Milton Keynes.

Tapas giant Ortega and the chic Ha Ha Bar and Grill will both arrive at the hub:mk soon.

Casual dining chain restaurant Ha Ha Bar and Grill is replacing Sam and Maxie's, which has been there just a year.

A £110,000 makeover will give the venue a new look in keeping with Ha Ha Bar's funky restaurants across the country, just in time for its opening on October 29.

Bar Ha Ha boasts an impressive food menu and award winning wines and premium beers available from 10am to 10pm every day.

Visitors to Ortega, which opens in November, will be able to fiesta to the sounds of flamenco and salsa while drinking sangria and munching on their extensive tapas and paella menu.

Ortega's decor is inspired by the spirit of Spain with warm colours, rich finishes and atmospheric lighting used throughout, even in the toilets.

Loch Fynn, a fish restaurant, and French restaurant Blanc Brasserie are also coming soon.

Clare Martin, head of marketing at Ha Ha Bar, said: "We are delighted to be opening a ha ha bar and grill in Milton Keynes and expect it to be a great success as with our other new city ventures."

5 star dining

Award winning and voted in the top 100 Indian restaurants in the UK. The Jalori is situated in the village of Woburn Sands close to Milton Keynes.

A place where old meets new, it combines classic Indian cuisine with a contemporary setting and offers all the comforts of a modern restaurant.

Owned by Abdul Hai, Jalori opened in 1994 with 70 covers. Its smart frontage advertises Classical Indian Cuisine and the menu certainly lives up to it if the opinions of local customers are anything to go by. The tables are comfortably spaced so that you can enjoy your meal without crowding and the atmosphere is very relaxing and pleasant. The menu includes most of the recognised dishes and the pricing represents good value for money.

Mr. Hai is a dedicated community member and raises funds for local and national good causes, many sports activities including recent world eleven against Eversholt cricket club.

The Jalori is the only Indian Restaurant in Milton Keynes to be awarded the top scores by MK Council Scores on the Doors campaign. Mr. Hai regularly invests in staff training to ensure that his standards are way above the requirements in the food service industry. Mr. Hai believes that this is essential to ensure that clients can enjoy his restaurant with confidence.

At Jalori the customer experience is second to none. The staff are friendly and helpful from the moment you enter the door, and are more than happy to help and advise on any dietary requirements.

Woburn Sands residents have a 1st rate restaurant on their doorstep.

Rubbish award: Bleak Hall, one of MK Council's three community recycling centres

'Mucho bueno' – Spanish firm gives top award to city recyclers

TEAMWORK behind the recycling success of Milton Keynes is being recognised by industry awards.

Milton Keynes Council and its contractors Waste Recycling Group and A Day Recycling Group, have received an award for excellence for the efficient way the three organisations work together running the community recycling centres across the city.

The award made by Spanish services group Fomento de Construcciones y Contratas (owners of WRG) made the award to the Milton Keynes operation, ahead of all its other companies in the UK.

The award for operational effectiveness recognised that the sites in Milton Keynes were well managed and had a good environmental record in meeting recycling targets.

MKC chief waste management engineer Andy Hudson said: "It is pleasing to see that our partnership approach is working well to help us move towards our 40 per cent recycling target."

Cllr Douglas McCall, cabinet member responsible for environment, said: "It is pleasing to see that the teamwork of the council and our contractors is being recognised but it is really an honour for everyone in the city who is contributing to the success of our recycling scheme by taking their recyclables to the CRCs and who use the pink sacks to sort their rubbish."

The community recycling centres accept glass, cans, plastic bottles, cardboard and paper, textiles, hardcore, car batteries and oil, garden waste, aluminium foil and electrical items.

The city's three main community recycling centres are located at:

■ Bleak Hall, Chesney Wold, MK6 1NE
■ New Bradwell, Newport Road, MK13 0AH

■ Newport Pagnell, North Crawley Road, MK16 9HG

During the winter months the opening hours are 8am to 5pm.

Parent parking a hazard at school

BY LAURA HANNAM

laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

AN anxious parent is calling for action after he was almost run over by a car outside his child's school.

Adrian Bray, whose two children attend Chesnuts Primary School in Bletchley, said parents parking bumper to bumper directly outside are creating a hazard.

He is worried a child will be knocked over as the parked cars make it difficult to cross the road.

Mr Bray, from St Catherine's Avenue, Bletchley, said: "When you cross the road you can't see if anything is coming as the cars are parked nose to tail. Parents can park further down the street, they are just being lazy.

"I was almost knocked down today as I couldn't see between the cars. If it happens to an adult imagine if it happened to a child."

The school has no car park or pedestrian crossing.

Headteacher Alison Wright said parents have been asked not to park directly outside the school at the start and end of the day.

"The school is in continuous liaison with parents about the need to park safely and with due consideration to the fact that children and adults are crossing the road to the school at these times," she said.

"We have also asked parents to respect the residents' accessibility to their property at all times."

David Frost, road safety team leader at Milton Keynes Council said: "We are witnessing a number of parents disregarding the safety of children to get a prime position at the school entrance."

"Most parents do the right thing and park away from the school entrance and allow their children to walk or cycle to school, but sadly there are still those selfish individuals who are happy to risk the lives of other children at and around the school gate."

School students win eco trip

FIVE students from Walton High School will be on their way to Prague next year to represent their country at the third annual Youth Eco-Parliament.

Valpak, the UK's leading compliance scheme, ran a competition to select a group of young people aged between 14 and 16 to represent the UK at the event.

As part of their prize, the school received its award from Valpak's chairman the Rt Hon John Gummer MP, following a tour of the Houses of Parliament.

Five students will also be sent on the all expenses paid trip to Prague next May.

Mr Gummer said: "This scheme is a fantastic opportunity for young people to address current environmental issues and have a meaningful voice in the debate. I am very pleased to present these awards in recognition of two excellent projects, and I wish Walton High's students every success in Prague."

The competition required students to prepare a project proposal on 'managing our waste and natural resources' focusing on the topics of waste, water or energy.

The winners must now turn their attention to an individual project and Internet discussions with their European counterparts.

This will culminate in a joint document on the environment, to be presented to MEPs and the European Environmental Commissioner in Prague.

Puppy snatched in raid on house

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

HAVE you seen this puppy?
The 13-week-old Staffordshire Terrier, called Baby Girl, was snatched during a burglary in Bradwell.

Police in Milton Keynes have issued this photograph in the hope that someone has seen the dog and may hold clues to identifying the culprit.

The robber broke into a house in The Close at 3pm on Wednesday September 12.

He was disturbed by the occupant and escaped over a fence in the garden before speeding off in a black Volkswagen Polo with an 07 index plate. The offender is described as white, aged 23 or 24, 5ft 6ins, of medium build with blonde hair. He wore an earring, a blue hooded top and has a tattoo on his right arm which looks like a Chinese symbol.

The puppy is micro-chipped and extremely good natured.

Baby Girl: Stolen during a burglary at a house in Bradwell

She is dark brown with white fur on her paws, white on her chest and a white spot on her tail.

Horizon celebrates 18 years on air

THIS week Milton Keynes' local commercial radio station, Horizon Radio is celebrating its birthday.

It's 18 years since local radio came to Milton Keynes when Horizon began broadcasting from its studio in Crownhill on October 15, 1989.

Programme controller, Chris Gregg said: "We've come a long way in 18 years - we've moved from vinyl records to the latest digital computer systems, but the principle has stayed the same - to play the best mix of music and be a voice for the local community."

gale outside is an art.

In fact, there's a whole myriad of activities you can enjoy in the warmth of your own home without ever having to switch on the TV or computer screen - from playing games and telling each other stories to a whole host of exciting creative activities that kids love to do.

Whether you create hand painted pictures, colourful mobiles, pom pom friends or springy pets, young children especially will love the attention and time you spend with them - you could even get together with friends and have a kid's craft party.

And even that most difficult of age groups to impress, teenagers, can experiment with some of the latest fashion trends and update old jeans and shirts by embellishing them with fabric paints, beads, buttons, sequins and trimmings.

For ideas and inspiration, take a trip to HobbyCraft, the arts and crafts superstore. HobbyCraft sells more than 32,000 products for 250 creative activities all under one roof, which means getting started is child's play.

There are free step-by-step project sheets which provide 'recipes' for a whole range of creative projects and a huge choice of complete kits which are ideal if you're shopping in a hurry.

And with Halloween approaching faster than Harry Potter's Quidditch broom, HobbyCraft has also conjured up some wickedly simple ideas to keep your little witches and wizards amused this half term - they can have hours of fun making decorations for a monster bash, including witches hats, scary masks, batty bats and spooky spiders!

Visit HobbyCraft and you'll also find plenty of scarily creative kits and costume ideas. For more inspired ideas and to check the free demonstrations taking place at HobbyCraft this month visit www.hobbycraft.co.uk. For your nearest store call free on 0800 027 2387

Alternatively, if you're looking for local kids' classes or workshops, a good starting point is to ask at your local school or library, or check out the information held on your local authority website.

With so much choice, isn't it good to know that planning how to keep the kids amused this Halloween half term doesn't have to give you nightmares!

PHOEBE UNWIN: A SHORT WALK FROM A SHOUT TO A WHISPER

MK Gallery

Until November 4

THIS is the first major exhibition by the British painter.

Unwin's paintings shift between figuration and abstraction.

Throughout her practice, Phoebe Unwin works incessantly in an A3 drawing book, creating a personal register of images and marks. Individual pages are worked up simultaneously creating visual dialogues, some obvious, some obscure as Unwin teases and collages images, shapes and forms from the format of the page and materials at hand in pastel, pencil and acrylic.

This exhibition will be accompanied by an illustrated catalogue with a text by Max Henry.

ALEX FROST: ADULTS

MK Gallery

Until November 4

BRITISH artist Alex Frost works in a variety of media.

This exhibition will present a selection of recent sculptures, drawings and mosaic panels. These reflect Frost's interest in the conflation of modern technology, the serial and the multiple with a distinctive hand-made aesthetic.

His work ranges from the miniature to the monumental, from intimate decoration to architectural intervention and locates itself in many differing contexts, the space of the studio, the gallery, wastelands, parks and cultural centres.

Frost's Adults are rock-like sculptures, malformed and enlarged versions of food packaging that are at once sophisticated and clumsy.

ALBUM REVIEW

IN RAINBOWS
Radiohead

DEPENDING on which side of the fence you sit, Radiohead have either done something incredibly stupid or something incredibly brilliant.

Their six album deal with Parlophone ended with Hail To The Thief four years ago and they haven't bothered sorting out another one.

What they've done instead is to make their latest set available on their website and if you want a copy, you can pay as much or as little as you like for it. If you want, you can even download it from the site for nothing, but where's the fun in that?

There's no copy protection either, so once you've got the tracks you can do what you like with them – you can leave them on your computer, whack them on your iPod, and if you're feeling really old school you can burn them onto a music CD.

There's also a £40 discbox in the pipeline too, consisting of two LPs, two CDs, a booklet and loads of artwork, so if you like having the real thing you'll be as happy as Larry, assuming Larry likes this sort of thing. If he doesn't, that's his loss.

Anyway, this is like listening to a stripped down band, they're still experimenting, but the approach is a little more minimalist compared to previous albums.

That's not to say there aren't surprises, blimey, it wouldn't be a proper Radiohead album if it was straightforward. That much is evident with track one, 15 Step, which is essentially drum'n'bass without the bass, but it kicks things off with an intensity that dispels any thoughts that just because it's free it's going to sound cheap and nasty.

Now, one good song could theoretically be classed as a result, after all you're free to delete any songs that don't make the grade, but there's something to be said for every single track (and luckily, it's something good).

Even the songs that come as close as the band get these days to being conventional rock songs (Bodysnatchers and Jigsaw Falling Into Place) are well above anything bands like Keane are ever likely to do. However, it's not all fast, and this is a more relaxed and downtempo Radiohead album than I was expecting (see, again with the surprises).

Nude is slow and dreamy, Faust Arp brings a load of strings to the party and House Of Cards, blimey, where to start with House Of Cards. It definitely has a Son Of Albatross feel to it, and I never thought I'd be mentioning Fleetwood Mac and Radiohead in the same sentence, but oh look at that, I've just done it.

House Of Cards is one of the best tracks on the album but All I Need is a masterpiece.

It's slow, dark, electronic, and it's pitched to perfection. Even when it wakes up three minutes in, it doesn't put a single foot wrong. It also features drumming you could conceivably dance to, something that also applies to 15 Step and Weird Fishes/Arpeggi.

But it definitely doesn't apply to Reckoner, probably because the left and right speakers are throwing out entirely different sets of percussion while a guitar gently strums away and Thom Yorke goes all falsetto.

All of which leads us to Videotape, the last track. It's little more than a singer, a piano and some seriously mental drumming, but it's the perfect way to end the show, and the sort of song that encourages you to just stop for a couple of minutes after it's finished so you can take in the album as a whole.

And, as a whole, In Rainbows is brilliant. It really is fantastic. Have a listen yourself, it's not like you can't afford it.

THE STONE ROSES EXPERIENCE
Supports: Seven Caves and Speeding Mellow
Friday, November 19

HYSTERIA will once again reach fever pitch when Scotland's answer to the enigmatic Mancunian four-piece swagger in to take you back in time.

Regarded as the most precise and justified Stone Roses tribute band to date, and performing to sell out crowds is something these four lads are no stranger to so get down early.

These guys have also had the amazing compliment of none other that original Stone Roses bass maestro Gary 'Mani' Mounfield, whom on three occasions played Roses classic 'She Bangs The Drums' alongside the band.

As well as having that major compliment, the members of the Roses Experience have also played major music festivals to audiences of 25,000.

The band comprise from some former members of The Complete Stone Roses, who now have a new line up. They use the very same amplification, guitars, strings, pedals, drums and drum skins as the original Stone Roses, and closely resemble the Roses circa 1989/1990 in terms of hair, appearance and of course the sound.

'It's not where you're from its where you're at...' Ian Brown.

Tickets £9. Doors 7.30pm.

MAXWELL HAMMER & SMITH

TRAVEL LIFE

When Irish sun is shining

I NEVER imagined that I'd get sun-burn in Ireland. The Emerald Isle is known for its green fields and sodden climate, so the sun-soaked week we spent on the West Coast for my honeymoon came as a pleasant surprise.

The plan was to drive up from Ennis, the county town of Clare, to Achill Island, a bleak forbidding landscape on the Atlantic coast.

FRIDAY NIGHT

Thrifty Dollar car rental, Shannon airport "NAME?" "Miles." "First name?" "Ian." "Did you say Miles?" "Yes." "We had a Miles from the local village of Tulla, always drunk. Well known if you take my meaning. He was pulled over one night by the Garda, 10 miles from home. 'Have you been drinking?' says the Garda? 'Only a couple,' he says. 'I'm Miles from Tulla.' The Garda says: 'I'm not caring how far you are from home, I'm still going to breathalise you.'"

I took this quip from sunny Maureen on the car rental desk as a warning that the local constabulary had got hot on the drink drive laws, especially when it came to jokers called Miles. Guinness exploration best in moderation perhaps.

SATURDAY

Travels with my new wife

THERE is another Miles in the equation now.

My wife Jane and I had always harboured thoughts of a touring holiday in Ireland. Now we had the time and the excuse – honeymoon (we were married six weeks earlier).

Two key things to achieve today with my navigator.

Cliffs of Moher and Monk's sea food chowder from the local boozier of that name in Ballyvaughan.

Difficult to pick the best experience to be honest. Fish soup: Monk's is meant to be the best in Clare, no Ireland, no, sorry, the world. Not tasted chowder all over the world, but this one is world class. Packed with mussels and big flakes of the local catch, it was superb.

On to the tallest cliffs in Europe. Moher: 214 metres down to the drink, the cliffs give you that gut-wrenching sense of your own mortality. Literally breathtaking, the wind sucks at your lungs.

Until very recently you could dangle your legs over the side but numerous deaths each year have now seen 31.5 million euros worth of visitors' centre and safety features put in place.

SUNDAY

Roundstone and St Joseph's The sun is shining

WE managed to catch the last day of the Roundstone music festival this evening. This perfect little coastal village must win the most picturesque in Galway's most perfect coastal village competition.

After a cracking meal at Beola, a stylish eatery on the main drag, it was on for the craick at the unsurprisingly named Shamrock.

Until you've been, it's difficult to describe the atmosphere in the pubs. Friendly? Of course. Welcoming? Undoubtedly.

But there is another element – the vast quantities of booze. All consumed in the most rowdy and convivial manner I've ever come across.

The diddley diddley music that I was initially unsure of became the soundtrack to our holiday – 'Seven drunken nights' narrowly beating 'The Black Velvet Band' as favourite – mainly because it wasn't about death, famine or your lover running off with another bloke.

TUESDAY

Marion Villas. Achill Head walk

TERRIBLE hotel booked on Achill. The Strand had nothing to recommend it – the room had no sea view, but that of an overflowing builder's skip. An alternative was eventually offered with iron burns in the carpet. No thanks.

If you ever go to Achill look up the excellent Marion Villas which has the lovely Ann to welcome you and the superb Chalet fish restaurant next to it. Order the lobster – good value and caught just miles from the kitchen.

Walking up from Keem Bay and along to the rugged landscape of Achill Head it became evident why creative types have long since found their way to this, the most Westerly part of Ireland.

It's an inspiration – and has five of the finest white sand beaches you could wish for.

THURSDAY

Croagh Patrick. Big hill. Hot ... very hot NOW, I'm not sure whether Ireland actually did have any snakes at any point in its history, but after St Patrick (Ireland's patron Saint) cast them out they all scarpered and to this day it's free of them. On Reek Sunday, the last in July, you will find many Catholics donning their walking boots, and indeed some of them abandoning all footwear to climb this 765 metre monster mount, pilgrim style.

Reek refers to the shape of the top of the mountain, and not how you smell on the way down.

On the way up we meet all shapes and sizes not usually designed for this kind of strenuous activity. Almost without fail, however, and in some cases with many a 'feck' and 'bejesus' along the way, you find them all at the top where, amazingly, there is a church.

Contemplating the two-hour climb and looking around us at the summit it was difficult not to get the sense that there had been some divine intervention in getting some of the pilgrims up there. Big and small, bikes and dogs, young and old (we met an 84-year-old) it felt like you'd joined a big gang, a force of the human spirit.

And boy did I get sun burned.

■ I know there are some days missing from the week, but you must remember we were on our honeymoon

COMPETITION TIME

Win a case of Cape Grace wine

WITH South Africa heating up as the UK cools down, there's never been a better time to take a walk on the wild side with a glass of lush Cape Grace wine.

Cape Grace is made from the finest quality grapes from beautiful South African vineyards and the range starts from £4.49.

Perfect for autumn evenings is Cape Grace Pinotage Merlot a soft, velvety wine which combines the taste of plums and mulberries. Lighter choices include Pinotage rose, a crisp and clean wine rich in strawberry and red cherry flavours and also the Semillon Chenin a lovely refreshing wine with a zesty finish.

As well as winning a mixed case of Cape Grace wine, our winner will also receive a South Africa Eyewitness Travel Guide worth £16.99, packed full of information about South Africa's famous wine routes. Published by Dorling Kindersley, the guide includes 3-D aerial maps, city guides and a comprehensive section on Kruger National Park.

Cape Grace wine is available from Somerfield, ASDA, Sainsbury's, and Waitrose and costs from £4.99.

We have a mixed case of wine available as a prize and a South Africa Eyewitness travel guide.

Ballroom hits at biggest Chamber awards dinner

THE Milton Keynes Chamber of Commerce Excellence Awards and annual dinner proved a glittering affair at the new MK Dons stadium on Thursday.

The event was the largest gathering of its kind to be held in the city with 740 people attending and the first event to be held in the prestigious ballroom at the stadium.

Keynote speaker for the event was former Tory Chancellor Ken Clarke, while the evening's host was Declan Curry, the BBC

Breakfast News business presenter.

For a full list of winners from the night log on to www.mk-chamber.co.uk

Rob has site on top of Hill

ROB Reid from Milton Keynes has reached the national final of this year's Construction Manager of the Year Awards (CMYA).

The awards, which are run by the Chartered Institute of Building (CIOB), will be held at the Grosvenor House Hotel in London on October 30 and hosted by BBC news presenter Kate Silverton.

Rob, who works for Hill Partnerships, has been nominated in the Projects between £4-7 million category for his work on the on Bradbury Place (construction of 30 flats and community learning centre) in Huntingdon.

It was not an auspicious start for Rob. Coming onto this scheme after the previous site manager had emigrated to Australia with the site entirely under scaffold and first-fix barely commenced in some units, Rob found a client understandably concerned.

The development was a complex one, blending rented apartments with units for private sale as well as a learning centre and ongoing funding depended on meeting fixed deadlines.

During the early design stages, the programme and the budget came under severe pressure with a requirement for extensive archaeological investigations to all blocks. Rob negotiated to get agreement on a substantially reduced site dig that left existing soil layers largely intact by redesigning the foundations to incorporate beamless slabs on top of fewer, large-bore piles.

This in turn forced Rob to change the construction of the learning centre from structural steel frame to masonry core and a lighter perimeter steel shell.

The financial savings generated by this significant redesign (and the use of bio-remediation rather than moving soil offsite) were passed onto the client.

Give us a break – time for a holiday

HR forum will offer free advice to local businesses on the effects of new labour legislation

THE Adecco branch in Milton Keynes will be holding an HR Forum tomorrow offering free advice to local businesses on how to tackle the top HR legislation issues brought into force by the Government over the last year.

The recruitment company located at Midsummer House, Milton Keynes, provides its services to different companies across the city and is in touch with the needs of local businesses.

The recent flurry of legislation that has come into force such as the ban on smoking in public places, the Working Times Directive and the Age Discrimination Act has created a minefield for businesses in ensuring that it complies with the regulations.

With the holiday entitlement changes coming into force this month, Adecco thought this would be a good time to offer guidance to local businesses on how best to navigate the implementation of these changes and advise companies on how to ensure they comply without causing too many internal pressures.

To understand the pressure facing SMEs, Adecco commissioned the 'Small Business Recruitment and Retention' survey in conjunction with the Institute of Directors (IOD).

The research surveyed small businesses to unveil the challenges they face in implementing new HR legislations.

It found that 40 per cent of respondents have updated HR policy as a result of legal reforms in the past three months, with 90 per cent changing HR policy in the past year.

Mandy Hayers, branch manager for Adecco in Milton Keynes said: "In our experience of working with a number of different types of businesses across Milton Keynes, we have found that HR departments and decision makers in SMEs are under pressure to ensure their business complies with these regulations.

The HR Forum will be an excellent platform for local businesses to learn first hand about how to best to navigate these regulations. Andy Smith, HR legal services manager at Adecco will talk through these new policies and put into context the impact these regulations have on business practice.

The HR Forum is being held at the Hilton Hotel in Kents Hill at 9.30am. If you are interested in attending the event contact Mandy Hayers at mandy.hayers@adecco.co.uk or on 01908 665766. The event takes place tomorrow.

Lexus LS 600h – plug in and go

THE LS 600h, the new hybrid powered flagship of the Lexus brand is now officially on sale.

Demand is very high and order leadtimes are now extending into next spring.

Equipped with a more advanced powertrain and more sophisticated array of preventive, active and passive features than any car in its class, the LS 600h sets new standards in luxury motoring, ensuring owners enjoy supreme comfort, convenience and on-board entertainment.

The LS 600h features the world's first full-time, all-wheel drive full hybrid V8 powertrain, combining a technically peerless 5.0-litre engine with a powerful, high-output electric motor.

The result is performance that rivals a standard V12 petrol engine (nought to 62mph in 6.3 seconds) with fuel consumption and emissions that are on a par with the segment's best performing and substantially lower powered – diesels (30.4mpg and 219g/km in combined cycle driving).

■ Lexus LS 600h prices range from £81,400, £83,645 and £88,000. For more details contact Julie Piazza at Lexus Milton Keynes on 628400.

PREVIEWS

HEREFORD UNITED League Two
Saturday, October 20. KO 3pm
Edgar Street

THE Bulls have had a fantastic run and have no doubt been one of the surprise packages in the league this season.

Graham Turner has rebuilt his team after losing several key first team players in the summer, and his new look side have won six, drawn three and lost two of their 11 games.

They are now in fourth place after drawing 1-1 with Chester at the weekend.

Home form will count for a lot if the Bulls are to hold on to the play-off spots right through the season and so far it has severed them well having lost just one game at Edgar Street.

But they will face a tough task trying to keep the Dons' at bay, Paul Ince's men have not lost a game since September, 1.

Trevor Benjamin has proved to be the Bulls' most dangerous player so far. The Jamaican international has netted five goals this season, but it is his experience in the game that has been invaluable for Turner's men.

Jude Stirling picked up his fifth yellow card of the season, but should be available for the match before he serves the one match suspension.

However, Mark Wright's return to form and impressive performances against Peterborough and Lincoln could see him in with a shout.

Lincoln green as Dons turn on the style for TV fans

ANOTHER rampant MK Dons performance saw them move three points clear at the top of the table and cost the Lincoln management their jobs.

John Schofield's team had been shown up live on Sky Sport by an impressive Dons display and 24 hours later the Imps' board sacked Schofield and their director of football, John Deehan.

Just five months ago both the Dons and the Imps were looking at a possible day of glory at Wembley which would have taken them into League One – it never happened.

The two teams were knocked out in the play-off semi-finals and left to battle it out in the League Two for another season.

But judging by Sunday's performance, the Dons looked a league above their struggling opposition.

Despite a closely matched start to the game, the Dons were soon running rings around the Imps' defence and they always looked lively and likely to score.

Several chances went missing in the first half and with 13,037 fans – their largest ever crowd – and millions tuning in on TV, the pressure was certainly on.

Yet the Dons didn't suffer stage fright, instead they stepped up to the billing and Leon Knight was the man to start the scoring with a superb strike.

There have been some fantastic goals from the Dons this season with Keith Andrews and Lloyd Dyer just two that spring to mind, but Knight's well worked effort will certainly be up there as one of the goals of the month.

That goal came at the stroke of

Imps board sack Schofield and football director after 4-0 blitz

Leon Knight blasts home the Dons' opening goal half time and the Imps would have been relieved to get into the changes rooms just one behind.

At the restart the Imps looked slightly more promising and could have pulled the scores level through Jamie Hand, but an athletic save from Willy Gueret prevented his powerful shot from reaching the back of the net.

From the resulting corner the Dons launched a fast counter attack which ended with Dyer doubling the lead.

It knocked all the confidence out of the below-par Imps and from then on there was only ever going to be one winner.

Although the Imps had played better in the second half, the Dons found their cutting edge and Aaron Wilbraham fired Mark Wright's cross beyond the reach of Imps keeper, Alan Marriott, before a well timed run saw Knight ease through a static defence to finish off the scoring and seal Schofield's fate.

■ MANSFIELD chairman, James Derry, has admitted a charge of improper conduct which was recently handed to him by the Football Association.

The charge relates to the Stags' recent 2-1 defeat to MK Dons, when it was alleged that Derry entered the field of play at the final whistle to remonstrate with match referee, Darren Dyrsdale.

After the incident Derry said: "I am disappointed it has come to this, but I don't see any value in pleading not guilty, I think I am going to have accept the punishment."

THE Dons have been drawn away to Bournemouth in the Johnstone's Paint Trophy area quarter finals.

The tie will be live on Sky Sports on Tuesday, November 13. Kick-off is at 7.45pm.

The draw in full:

Northern Section
Carlisle United v Stockport County
Hartlepool United v Morecambe
Leeds United v Bury Grimsby Town v Doncaster Rovers/Oldham Athletic Southern Section
AFC Bournemouth v MK Dons
Swansea City v Yeovil Town
Gillingham v Dagenham & Redbridge
Brighton & Hove Albion v Cheltenham Town

MK Dons under-18s lost 2-0 to a strong Reading side.

The Dons had the worst possible start when Royals' skipper Tom Hateley put his side into the lead after just five minutes.

Patrick Cox added to the Dons' woes fifteen minutes later when he doubled the lead, and the Dons could not find a way back into the game.

KEITH Andrews remains ever-present in the League Two Team of the Week after being named among the best performers for the sixth time.

Leon Knight also made his second appearance following his two goals against Lincoln.

League Two Team of the Week: Ian Dunbavin (Accrington Stanley), Adam Yates (Morecambe), Graham Coughlan (Rotherham), Janos Kovacs (Chesterfield), Paul Scott (Bury), Garry Thompson (Morecambe), Keith Andrews (MK Dons), Jamie Winter (Chesterfield), Danny Thomas (Macclesfield), Tommy Wright (Darlington), Leon Knight (MK Dons).

PAUL MITCHELL WRITES FOR YOU

IF you're an MK Dons fan or player, I bet the feeling is that life doesn't get much better than this.

A big performance was needed in front of the television cameras to really show people in the country what MK Dons, the team and club, are all about.

I think you will agree that's exactly what they got from the players but also the fans because the atmosphere was electric and the supporters have to take a hell of a lot of credit, it was brilliant.

There's nothing better as a player than walking out of the tunnel to the reception the teams got.

I know it definitely helped the players perform and pushed them on.

In my opinion, there could have been 11 man-of-the-match awards on the day with everyone performing superbly.

Great credit must go to the Gaffer for the goals.

Every day, without fail, he works on finishing and it's really paying dividends.

As they say, practise makes perfect and in Sunday's game Wilbraham and Knight scored wonderful goals.

Everybody knows scoring isn't my specialist subject but getting their names on the score sheet would have done them the world of good, as strikers love scoring goals.

It's my opinion that Alby and Leon are two of the best in the league and, as the season progresses, they will really come into their own.

I've noticed over the last few weeks that there are strong partnerships developing all over the pitch.

This is how good teams operate, as strong units and now it's up to the lads on the sidelines to be ready when they are called upon and also to keep hold of the shirt when they get it as competition is great for any squad.

We will need our solidarity on Saturday at Hereford as it is a typical League Two place where, once again, we will have to dig deep and grind out the win.

You fans have seen the effect that you can have on the team so hopefully, once again, you will be there in numbers to back us all the way to victory.

MK Lions leapfrogged over Leicester Riders into joint third place with a thrilling 97-94 win over Scottish Rocks.

Although the weekend had not gone totally to plan as Vince Macauley's men lost their second game of the season on Friday, against Sheffield Sharks.

The Lions opened a quick seven point lead as Sheffield struggled in the early part of the game before they hit back with a 7-2 burst to keep them in touch.

Sheffield started the second quarter in a brighter fashion with five unanswered points, but veteran Tony Windless and Yorick Williams combined to help the Lions to a 21-6 surge. The Sharks had the final say as Justice Graham posted a triple to give the hosts a 47-46 lead at the half.

Peter Heizer netted back-to-back threes at the start of the third for a 47-52 advantage, yet once again Graham netted five points for the Sharks before the Lions responded with eight of their own.

Kevin Griffin made a pair of three-throws to give Lions a 65-68 lead going into the decisive final quarter.

A Ray McKeithan basket on the re-start saw the Sharks pull back the lead with Graham and Anthony Virgil extending it further. Terrell Brown posted two three-pointers to reduce the deficit to two points with three minutes remaining.

But McKeithan, hit the vital points either side of a Lions score to seal the win.

On Sunday a tight first half saw them swap baskets with the Rocks throughout, with the teams tied at 46-46 at half-time.

The second half saw the Rocks start the faster, especially Moritz Wohlers netting five points in an 11-5 start to the quarter giving the Rocks a 51-57 lead.

The Lions hauled themselves back with some accurate outside shooting from Williams to close the deficit to four points at 71-75 going into the final stanza.

In the final quarter, Rob Yanders got the Rocks off and running with the first five points to take the score out to 73-80.

It was the Lions who broke the game open following that with a 17-4 burst, including six points from Michael New, before Dru Spinks secured the victory for the Lions from the foul-line.

■ Lions are home to Chester Jets on Friday (7.30pm) and away to Guilford Heat on Sunday.

Twin wins for Lightning

LIGHTNING struck twice at the weekend and moved up to second place.

MK have conceded just eight goals in their four league games and went in to their double fixture with Swindon Wildcats full of confidence.

This season Nick Poole's side have only lost once – a cup match against Chelmsford – and they would be topping the table had Bracknell Bees not played two extra matches.

Once again Lightning were fast starters in the first game against the Wildcats and it took five minutes to get the scoring started.

Import Ales Perez was first on the sheet and Poole followed three minutes later.

Lightning's dominance in the first period was then rewarded when Ross Bowers added the third to give them a healthy lead going into the second.

The Wildcats were a good match in the next spell with end to end icing throughout, but still Lightning were the only team to add to the scoreline with Gary Clarke and Adam Carr scoring within a minute of each other.

Pictures Jez Tibbets

Carr then added his second in the first minute of the final period before Lightning eased off which allowed Erik Bochna to pull one back for the Wildcats.

Player-coach Poole picked up the man of the match accolade in the 6-1 win.

Sunday's meeting between the pair was somewhat quieter. Both teams opted for the defensive game plan, no surprise considering Swindon had conceded six just a day earlier.

The Wildcats appeared more composed in the second game, but Lightning still managed to break the deadlock after ten minutes with Greg Randall's strike.

After 25 minutes with no score Matt Towalski doubled Lightning's lead before Ciaran Long grabbed one back.

■ On Saturday Lightning take on Bracknell Bees at Planet Ice, face-off 7pm, before travelling to Chelmsford on Sunday for their cup fixture. Face-off 6.30pm.

Local rugby round-up

IN a repeat of last week's league game, MK beat Beaconsfield 22-8 in the EDF Senior Vase.

MK allowed Beaconsfield to open the scoring when they conceded a penalty and the flyhalf slotted between the posts, but MK responded with Phil Powell's own three points.

Both teams then crossed the line but neither could convert, taking the scores to 8-8 at half time.

The scoreline remained the same for a large part of the second half, before Dafydd Bretherton and Dan Walker grabbed MK's final two tries to win the game.

Local football

IN division one of the South Midlands league

STONY STRATFORD TOWN drew 1-1 with Haringey Borough and NEW BRADWELL ST PETER were held to a goalless draw with Cheshunt Reserves.

BUCKINGHAM ATHLETIC slipped to a 2-1 defeat to Brache Sparta while WINSLOW TOWN lost 3-1 to Amersham Town.

In the United Counties premier division NEWPORT PAGNELL TOWN lost 5-1 to Deeping Rangers.

SNO!zone champs

MK picked up three gold medals in the Trespass British Indoor Snowboard/Skiercross Championships and the Slopestyle Jam, which was held at SNO!zone at the weekend.

More than 300 competitors and spectators descended upon Milton Keynes and it was the local stars who stole the show.

Jules Chappell claimed first place in the Women's Snowboardcross Championships and Gary Walsh picking up the men's equivalent.

In the Women's final there was a crash out of the gates leaving the race for first and second place between Chappell and Rebecca Cullum.

Chappell edged her way over the finish line first to take the 2007 Trespass British Snowboardcross title.

There was a collision between hot favourites Harry Kingsley-Jones, Ben Knox and George Springfield. Riding away unscathed Walsh, took advantage and cruised home first to take the 2007 Men's Championship title.

MK's Amber May Connors took gold in the women's Slopestyle Jam.

On the staff: David Holdsworth Deano's twin joins Dons as defence coach

MK Dons are set to confirm David Holdsworth has joined up with their coaching staff.

Holdsworth, the twin brother of former Dons striker Dean, has been with Paul Ince's side for a number of weeks but is still only officially a guest.

The 38-year-old was an ever-present centre half for Watford, in the eight years he spent with the club he made 258 appearances and grabbed ten goals, before spells with Sheffield United and Birmingham City.

When Holdsworth retired from playing he became reserve team manager at Gretna and was then appointed director of youth development last year.

His job at Gretna came to an end when the club were forced to cut jobs in a money-saving scheme.

Holdsworth is expected to take on a defensive coaching role, although Ince will no doubt call on his experience at the top to help his side in their push for promotion.

It's all down to teamwork says star striker Knight

BY SIMONE CORGAN

simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

LEON Knight has downplayed his man-of-the-match display against Lincoln City, insisting the team's performance was more important.

His double helped MK Dons trounce the Red Imps 4-0, and end his own seven game goal drought.

Although most strikers would suffer a knock in confidence, Knight believed his next goal was just around the corner.

"I don't feel any pressure, I just go out and do what I know I can do," Knight said, "I always knew that it would come and I got the chances on Sunday, fortunately enough for me they went in."

"It was a good performance but more importantly we got the three points, when you get both it's really pleasing." The season started brightly for the 25-year-old, scoring three goals in as many games, chances have since fallen for him and many fans would argue he should have had one or two penalties of late, but his work effort throughout the games have been evident to all.

Knight said: "If we're not winning and I'm working hard then it gets frustrating, but as long as we're winning a striker doesn't mind if they don't even get a shot on target, as long as we're collecting points along the way."

Despite Knight's goal-scoring boots going missing for a few games, the Dons are the top scorers in all four leagues with 25 in the 'for' tally.

"It is a great record to have considering I hadn't scored for seven games and Alby (Aaron Wilbraham) hadn't scored for five. It's good that our midfield players were coming up with the goods and scoring the goals."

"It helps when everyone else is chipping in, last season there was a lot of pressure on Izale McLeod because he was the one getting all the goals."

While the Dons have plenty of strength and depth throughout the team, Paul Ince's strike force seems to be an automatic choice of late with Knight and Wilbraham starting the last six games together.

"They always say the big man, little man combination works well. We work all the time in training, we're just trying to put what we practice into games."

When the diminutive striker joined from Swansea during the January transfer window, he faced a tough challenge of forcing his way into a team which had Izale McLeod and Clive Platt, who both left for the Championship in the summer, and it proved difficult as he made 11 of his 18 appearances from the bench.

"Last season I felt I could have done a job and it wasn't to be. I came in at a time when they were doing well and scoring goals – they scored 40-odd between them."

"You can't say anything about that you've just got to sit down and wait your turn, unfortunately it didn't come then."

"But now it's come round I've just got to show what I can do."
